ALTERGY CHOSEN TO SPEAK AT GOLDMAN SACHS ALTERNATIVE ENERGY CONFERENCE

FOLSOM, CA, November 11, 2010 – Reflecting its status as a global leader in clean-energy power system manufacturing, Alteryg Systems was invited to speak at fifth annual Goldman Sachs Alternative Energy Conference held November 10 and 11 in New York City.

Alteryg has been a regular participant in the Goldman Sachs Alternative Energy Conference and was a presenter at the first conference in 2005.

"We appreciate the recognition by Goldman Sachs of our industry-leading role in changing the way the world gets its power and how truly different we are from others in the clean tech sector," said Eric Mettler, Alteryg President and CEO. "As we continue to grow, it's important for the business community to understand that we are the clean back-up power supplier of choice not only for mission critical applications such as telecom . . . but that we are also expanding into additional global markets as well."

More than 600 senior portfolio managers and analysts attended the conference. Panelists and speakers covered a wide range of alternative-energy topics, including carbon trading/pricing, the technology and investment outlook for alternative energy, and the stability of access to capital for the clean tech sector.
