ALTERGY HONORED AT SACRAMENTO CLEAN TECH SHOWCASE

FOLSOM, CA, November 9, 2010 –Alteryg Systems was featured as a Sacramento region clean-technology success story at the 2010 Clean Tech Showcase held Tuesday, Oct. 26 at Sacramento State University.

Alteryg Chairman Terry Carlone participated in a panel discussion on "Public and Private Successes: How Companies and Private Agencies are Achieving the Clean Tech Vision and How They Will Vault Us Forward" and outlined the company's plans for growth into new and expanding markets. Other panelists included Ben Finkelor, executive director of the Energy Efficiency Center at the University of California, Davis; Michael Kuhlmann, co-founder and CEO, RCS Technology; and Dr. Emir Macari, Dean of the College of Engineering & Computer Science at Sacramento State University.

The Clean Tech Showcase was attended by 800 people and featured the latest innovations in solar, wind, biofuels, and energy-efficient technologies.

Organized by SARTA's CleanStart, the event brought together the region's most influential leaders in renewable energy and environmental technology. Ninety companies, including Alteryg, exhibited their products and technologies.
